Challenge

Embracing change is fundamental to survive and thrive in the technology industry. Bluebee realized early on that change equals opportunity. Bluebee met change head on by continuously evolving and modernizing its ERP solution without changing the underlying architecture.

“Meeting the unique needs of our customers requires that we only make simple changes to the surface of our solution, like the UI, not to the underlying architecture.”

Simon Laporte,

Vice President, Bluebee Software

Solution

Continuously evolve and modernize its Progress® OpenEdge® ERP solution for more than two decades.

Deploy Progress® Kendo UI® components to provide a modern and intuitive digital experience for its users.

Leverage the flexibility of the OpenEdge platform to add features like business intelligence to keep up with changing customer needs.

Results

Realize continuous growth over the years, today serving the needs of thousands of distribution and manufacturing users.

Increase its user base by offering both on-premises and cloud versions of its ERP to meet varying customer requirements.

Continue to meet customer needs by making simple changes to the solution like UI and not change the underlying architecture.
